

Liveaboard diving in St. Croix, Virgin Islands

St. Croix is truly a hidden gem in the Caribbean. Part of the US Virgin Islands, but worlds apart from the usual. Just 35 miles south of St. Thomas, St. John and BVIs it is the largest of the USVIs and also the most dramatic. At 84 miles square and highest elevation at Mount Eagle of 1,165ft, St Croix boasts beautiful beaches, rain forests, salt marshes, desert, and plains. But the diversity and beauty doesn't stop at sea both above and below the water. Departing from the Frederiksted Pier, we'll be exploring the wrecks and reefs of Butler Bay, the walls off Cane Bay, and the reefs and slopes of the northern shores of the island around the Salt River and Christainsted.

The West Side

Trips begin and end at the Frederiksted Pier, which means you land, you can head to the boat, toss your clothes in your cabin and throw a

Butler Bay

Just to the north, the ruins of the old cruise ship pier lie in the deep section of Butler Bay at a dive site called Armageddon. Destroyed by arternoon and even a night dive at the Pier as well. This Pier is beloved to many a diver, photographer, and critter lover. Ranging in depths from 10 to 60 feet, there is no lack of diversity all along the pilings. Jump off Juliet for a dive, or have some fun jumping from directly off the pier -a 20' drop, now that's a giant stride! Octopus, sea horses, and frog fish are almost guaranteed on every dive, not to mention juvenile puffers and box fish, tons of varieties of worms and sea slugs, and a handful of resident turtles as well.

wreckage pile riigh on the seafloor, attracting tons of life! Also in Butler Bay are an old trawler the Suffolk Maid, a large barge called the Virgin Islander, and our personal favorite, a small tugboat named North Wind sitting upright in 50' of water. If your navigation is spot on, you also might be able to find NOAA's old Undersea Research Laboratory where 4 scientists could spend up to 2 weeks exploring the bottom of the ocean.

Cane Bay

Just around the corner are the most spectacular collection of Wall dives you will see this spur and groove wall starting at 60-80 feet and dropping to thousands. Old ship's anchors dot the seascape, and sharks, eagle rays, and turtles are abundant. Evenings in Cane Bay might be topped off with a run into the beach to a local island bar!

Salt River

a beautiful coral-lined valley.
The visibility might not be as predictable here, but the dive is well worth it!

Itineraries in St. Croix are shifted to Friday boarding days and Thursday disembarkation days to allow for dockage and diving at the Frederiksted Pier during off-cruise ship days and to hopefully give you a better deal on airfare into St. Croix on non-weekend days. If you would like to extend your diving vacation with some more Things to do in St. Croix before or after your trip:

- Captain Morgan distillery tour
- Cruzan Rum Factory
 Tour
- Gecko Island
 Adventure ATV Tours
- Estate Whim Museum
- Salt River Bay National Park and Ecological Preserve
- Point Udall, the Easternmost point in

Have a Question?

Send us an email, we're happy to help!

CONTACT US Sound interesting?

You can book your trip online now

> BOOK YOUR TRIP

Already booked?

Check our Travel Planning page for details

> PLAN YOUR TRIP

St. Croix Packages

7-day St. Croix Trip $1,940.00 -$2,140.00

News & Updates

4

What are Mona Island Trips Like?

October 15, 2022 - 1:50 pm

#

Summer critter updates

September 15, 2022 - 1:51 pm

#

Nitrox for all in 2023

May 12, 2022 - 4:33 pm

-

Update to Bahamas Entry requirements

August 17, 2021 - 1:03 pm

40

Good news for Vaccinated Travelers

April 26, 2021 - 2:49 pm

Get in Touch

Hash Marine

DBA Juliet Sailing and Diving 25 SE 2nd Ave Suite 406 Miami, FL 33131

866-5JULIET (558-5438)

Copyright 2021 by Juliet Sailing and Diving.